ME, DEPEW KEPT AWAY FROM THE CONFER-ENCE BY HIS LAME FOOT-DR. HALL

STRIKES A KEYNOTE OF HOPE. At the meeting of the Church Missionary Conference at Chickering Hall yesterday afternoon, E. B. Knevals presided. The Rev. Dr. Morgan conducted the devotional exercises. There was a large attendance, and many of the people present had undoubtedly been attracted by the name of Chauney M. Depew, who was announced to speak on "Christianity as the World's Great Uplifting Power." But to their bitter disap-pointment Mr. Depew could not do so, as his dector lid not believe that it would be safe for him to use his last two years had been years of disister. They had lost many good men, among them one that towered above the rest, John B. Corpell, for six teen years president of the New-York Church Extension Society. Methodism must be aggressive or nothing, must be evangelical or die. He felt that the me had come for an advance. Methods must be changed. He knew of churches formerly crowded now half empty. No matter how eloquent the preach er, the people did not come. The churchless people ast be approached and dealt with with persistence, and churches should be kept open on week days.

There was, he said, a lack of earnestness and interst in religious matters in New-York. He rememed the time when New-York was a God-fearing abbath-beeping city, when there was no traffic in the streets, and no stores or markets were kept open, except the fish market. That time he hoped and slieved would come again.

The Rev. Dr. John Hall spoke about the Presbyberian Church Extension Society. He took a hope ful view of religious work in the city. "I stand be ore you," he said, "as one of this foreign population tion to which a good many strong statements have been made, and on behalf of the foreign population I ask you to take as kindly an attitude toward us as you can, and to speak as favorably of us as con-sistently with truth you can possibly do, and let there not be any temptation put in our way when we come live among you to think unworthily of the faith that you hold in consequence of the things that we things that we read in your daily press. Now I would like to express my own conviction, and that would be against any despondent tone in relation to this city of New-York in its religious life. (Applause.) I have lived here for one and twenty years. have been in the Presbyterian, the Congregational, nestly and truly say here that as far as m in so good a condition in these twenty-one years as it year in which we are met together, and hould be very sorry if the press or if the general the feeling that we were a forlorn hope, uggling in a cause that is passing from our (Applause.) That is not true to the truth We must be grateful to God for his kindness and grace, and trust Him while we work in the that is to come. (Loud applause.)

Dr. Hall's cheerful view was abundantly justified by the magnificent roturns he had to present of the work of the Presbyterian Church in this He made several practical points on the gen eral question that appealed to common sense and much applauded by his hearers; for instance when he alluded to the necessity of churches moving uptown as their congregations moved uptown, which is only reasonable way for keeping up the attendance and the number of members on the rolls.

The Rev. W. T. Elsing, a missionary of the New-York City Mission, talked about the excellent work f that body and of its useds for the future continue and spread of its prosperity.

R. Fuiton Cutting took up the subject on which Mr. was to have spoken, and made an address in hich he showed how Christlanity had been identified with the uplifting and progress of the human family om the very dawn of the Christian era to the present

The conference was ended at the evening session. The speakers were the Rev. Dr. Josiah Strong, who poke on "The Necessity for United Christian Work"; he Rev. Dr. Frank Russell, on "House to House Vistation," and Bishop Edward G. Andrews on "The Latent Power of the New-York Churches." Bishop undrews said that this latent power was beyond the lower of man to describe. The three great powers which he considered to be latent in the body of pointment of a committee of twenty-five, with power to add to their number, from the different churches and missions of the city for "careful study and execution of such plans as may seem to them wise for the more efficient co-operation in aggressive Christian work, both on the part of the churches and of existing mission organizations." The following were appointed as this committee: Baptists, the Rev. Dr. R. S. Macarthur, the Rev. J. L. Elder and the Rev. J. J. Bronner; Congregationalist, the Rev. Dr. Osiah Strong; Lutherans, the Rev. Drs. G. U. Wenner, F. F. Biermeyer and J. F. Krotel; Methodists, the Rev. Drs. I. S. Chadwick, O. H. Tillany and Ensign McChesney; Pretbyterian, the Rev. Dr. C. HOW HE KILLED GOLDENKIECH.

THE JURY WILL PROBABLY DECIDE TO-DAY THE DEGREE OF C. W. GREEN'S GUILT IN

SHOOTING HIS BROTHER-IN-LAW. The taking of testimony in the trial of Charles W. Green, a prominent resident of the Eastern District of Brooklyn, for murder in the first degree, in shooting Nicholas Goldenkirch, his brother-in-law, was closed yesterday in the Brooklyn Court of Sessions, and the case will be summed up and given to the jury to-day. The evidence of the prisoner was the principal feature of the day, and it was listened to with deep interest trial evidence was offered from John C. Muller, an intimate friend of the dead man, regarding two notes for $6,500 given to Goldenkirch in the name of Miss Emily Green, and two letters written by Goldenkirch shortly before the murder, in which he asked Muller to collect the money in the event of his meeting with sudden death.

lived together. Last March their home was at No. 106 Rodney-st. In 1880 he first met Goldenkirch at his house, and the latter visited his sister frequently. He asked her if Goldenkirch was her company, and she said she could attend to that matter herself. He did not think any one would marry her as she was a confirmed invalid. A servant in the house left be-cause, as she made affidavit, that Goldenkirch assaulted her, but his sister would not believe the girl. No satisfactory explanation was made by Goldenkirch before he had to go on a business trip, and he promised to explain on his return. The next time the witness saw him was on March 23 last. His sister was extremely ill, and when Mr. Goldenkirch called he admitted him, and as his sister sent down that she wished to see him, he went to her room. At 11 monstrated on account of Goldenkirch remaining so late. He asked him to go, and after he said he would not, the witness's sister put her arms around Golden-kirch's neck and said: "Don't strike Mr. Golden-

It was on Monday, March 26, that the witness next saw Goldenkirch. He met him at the door, and said: "You can't come in. You have no good purpose in coming, and I want you to stay out." Goldenkirch persisted in entering and pushed the witness back and persisted in entering and pushed the witness back and started upstairs. The witness said; "You can't go upstairs," and strove to stop him. Goldenkirch said: "I will end this racket d—n quick," and the witness saw him put his hand in his overcoat pocket, and reached for his revolver. Goldenkirch grabbed him by the throat and what next occurred the witness could not state, save that his revolver went off. He was too excited and bewildered to remember what occurred. But he had no intention of shooting Goldenkirch. The pistol was one he had carried for several years, and he could not tell how it was cocked and fired on this occasion.

RAILROAD INTERESTS.

A SYNDICATE TO LEASE WESTERN LINES. GOSSIP ABOUT A COMBINATION TO SECURE UNI-

FORM RATES. Chicago, Dec. 5 .- "The Times" this morning says It is reported that Eastern capitalists have been for some time considering a scheme that is of much greater magnitude than the discarded clearing house arrangement. It provides for the creation of a syndicate which is to secure a controlling interest in all Western roads to manage them as one system. A gentleman well informed in railroad affairs, who efers to be nameless, said yesterday:

"'This clearing house scheme, or whatever may be substituted for it, is intended to be only a makeshift You might say something to prepare the public mind for the introduction of a broader and more effective done were delivered. The Rev. Dr. Crawford gave that the ultimate aim and purpose of the capitalists stops. The last plan for putting an end to rate wars and revoluwest of Chicago and St. Louis under one control. The organization is to be a gigantic stock company and stockholders will be guaranteed, say, 5 per cent on their stock, so that while it will amount practically to a consolidation of all the roads, it will in reality be nothing more than a leasing of the various lines. no law against leasing railroads, and until there is such a law it cannot be urged that there is anything illegal in the scheme. I do not know how soon it will be put into operation and presume the projectors have not decided that point, but that it has not been abandoned I am sure. Rates could be made lower than they are at present, because they would be uniform. There would be no competition and fast trains could be established just where there was a demand for them, and there would be no rivals to rush in and kill the profits of the business by dividing it up into infinitesimal proportions."

"President R. R. Cable, of the Rock, Island, was asked what he thought of the proposed plan. 'I haven't considered it,' he replied. 'In fact, I don't haven't considered it, he replied. In lact, I don't know anything about such a plan, except that something of the kind has been hinted at in the gossip from the East. I don't believe there is any truth in it.' President C. E. Perkins, of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, passed through the city yesterday on his way to Boston. He declared that he had heard nothing about the proposed combination and felt no interest in the matter."

MISSOURI PACIFIC RATES TO GO UP. AN INTERESTING AND INSTRUCTIVE DIALOGUE RETWEEN SAMUEL SLOAN AND GEORGE

J. GOULD. Henry G. Marquand was the only member of the Executive Committee of the Missouri Pacific Railway who was not present at the regular meeting yesterday. The other members are George J. Gould, Russell Sage, Thomas T. Eckert, Sidney Dillon, A. L. Hopkins and Samuel Sloan. A lot of routine business had been finished and a motion to adjourn was about to be carried when Mr. Sloan objected in his emphatic way to this summary closing of the meeting. No verbatim report of the subsequent discussion could be obtained, but from excellent authorities the proceedings were about as follows:

an adjournment until we have paid some attention to important questions of great interest to the public I hear rumors that the next dividend may be passed, and every day I am asked whether there is anything the matter with our company.

George-We have attempted to make a general settlement in the Southwest, but we have been discouraged by the defeat of our plan. Mr. Sloan-Whose plan was this clearing-house

George-I got it up with the advice of practical

Mr. Sloan is reported to have said once more, and in even a severer tone: "George," and then to have continued after a brief hesitation: "Some of us will go to prison if we do not pay some attention to the wishes of our stockholders. I want to be put on record, and I move that the executive officers of the company immediately direct the general manager to advance rates to remunerative prices and not to accept business that does not show a profit. If the other comnanes in the Southwest do not follow the example, they can face an outraged public."

The resolution was adopted without a dissenting vote and the necessary instructions were sent by telegraph to General Manager Clark in spite of the assertion by George J. Gould that Mr. Clark would be in New-York in a few days.

Although it cannot be announced officially, an advance in westbound freight rates is likely to be ordered at any moment. The negotiations looking in that direction are making favorable progress, and it is not believed that their consummation will be long delayed. Efforts are now being made to secure an No. improvement in the passenger situation, and it is hoped that accompanying the advance in freight points of difference in immigrant business have been arranged for submission to arbitration in case agreement cannot be reached between the competing roads. To-day a conference will be held between the fank line passenger committee and the Central Traffic Association, at which it is believed progress will be made in adjusting disputed questions of payment of commissions to agents and in preparing the way for a more harmonious operation of the passenger branch of the trunk line business. It is understood that some of the most serious obstacles in the preserva-tion of passenger rates have been removed by an al-teration of the position of one of the trunk lines in regard to the immigrant clearing house.

A SUIT AGAINST THE IRON MOUNTAIN ROADS. A suit in which it is expected that Jay Gould may be a witness was called for trial yesterday in hundred thousand dollars and was begun two years ago by Solon Humphreys and E. D. Morgan, trustees of the New-York and Pacific Company Trust Association, against the railroads composing the Iron Montain system. The trust was organized for the purpose of buying, selling and leasing cars to railroads. Some of the cars were leased to the Wabash road, which was afterward leased to the Iron Mountain roads, of which Jay Gould had the control. The complainant alleges that the defendants assumed the responsibility of paying the Wmoney due for other cuses of the cars leased to the Wabash road. The diendants declare that no such agreement could legally be made. A motion was made vesteriay by ex-Judge Dillon for the defendants to dismiss the case, but Judge Wheeler denied the motion and the taking of testimony began. The trial will continue several days.
